INTRODUCTORY NOTE

THE Accountants' Index is a standard reference work published as a service to the accounting profession.

This fifteenth supplement to the Accountants' Index is a continuation of the preceding fourteen supplements to the original volume. The original Index was published in 1920, and supplements issued periodically thereafter have kept the material up to date.

To find data on any subject, the reader should look for the subject, author, or title, as in an encyclopedia.

Names of authors, subjects, and titles are arranged in a single alphabet, with information relating to publisher, place of publication, date, and number of pages. The addresses of publishers and periodicals will be found in the directory at the end of the volume.
